"Music lovers have not had so enthusiastic a guide into the mysterious world of classical music since the glory days of Leonard Bernstein."

— High Fidelity

"Many other conductors have recorded them, but Zander stands high above the Alpine clouds. His series includes an explanatory CD in which he unshrouds some of the mysteries behind the tormented composer's revolutionary music. Like recorded walking guides at art museums, Zander's ear-opening commentaries take the listener on a tour."

— Associated Press

"Zander's commentary adds much to one's appreciation of the music. He is everything you could want in a teacher: well informed, insightful, humane, moving and genuinely enthusiastic."

— Fanfare

MAHLER 1/ SONGS OF A WAYFARER

Available October 25, 2005

CD-80628

"His reading of the whole work – and of the associated songs – is simply magnificent. Four stars."
— The Sunday Times

"...the best Mahler's First in decades...Telarc's sound is ideal..."
— All Music Guide

"This is the freshest-sounding recording of this work (Songs of a Wayfarer) since the classic version by Dietrich Fischer-Dieskau and Rafael Kubelik was released nearly 40 years ago."
— Fanfare

"The bonus disc in this set is one of his best...Zander is a consummate Mahlerite."
— American Record Guide

Each set includes a bonus discussion disc on which Benjamin Zander explains the music.

MAHLER 3

"Now THIS is the real thing. Here is a disc to remind classical lovers why we got so passionately attached to music in the first place... I once again find myself nudging aside old favorites in recognition of another outstanding Mahler recording by Benjamin Zander."

— High Fidelity

"I don't think anyone who admires Mahler's music can afford to do without this new recording." "I feel that Zander...has given us a Mahler Third like no other, and has taken his Telarc Mahler series to a new peak."

— Fanfare

"This is one of the most revelatory moments in the history of surround orchestral recordings, and it deserves to become widely used as demo material. A fortissimo bravo to Zander and Telarc. There's no better way to begin fathoming this difficult but rewarding work."

— Home Theater

Awarded the 2004 Critic's choice by the German Record Critic's Award Association.

Specially priced 2CD set CD-80569

MAHLER 5

"Zander's Fifth is a revelation... Like Mahler himself, his time has come."

— Fanfare

2002 Vienna Critics Award for Best Recording of 2001

Specially priced 3CD set CD-80586

MAHLER 6

"This recording is quite simply the finest Mahler 6th... (It) raises the bar for the whole classical recording industry... Top disc of the year 2002, bar none..."

— High Fidelity

"I do not hope to hear a more wrenching yet heartwarmingly lyrical account on disc."

— Sunday Times

Voted as amongst the top 10 recordings of 2002 by Fanfare, The Sunday Times and The Boston Globe

Specially priced 3CD set CD-80471

BEETHOVEN 5 & 7

"Zander is plainly one of the conducting giants of our time... he keeps making me gasp for breath as he unfolds music afresh that I thought, after many, many hearings, I already knew."

— Amazon.com

Specially priced 3CD set CD-80527

MAHLER 9

"The nearest comparison I can think of is Bruno Walter's 1938 Vienna Philharmonic recording – clearly the sound of an orchestra of great individualists, united in a common musical cause."

— Gramophone

"Certainly the most enlightening, and inspiring Ninth in many years... anybody's spine should thrill to it."

— Financial Times (London)

"The performance of a millennium"

— Fanfare

Nominated for a Grammy Award

Specially priced 2CD set CD-80555

MAHLER 4

"One could simply come out with it and call this performance of the Fourth Symphony the most felicitous Mahler recording of recent years."

— Fono Forum
